

WHY NURSING AT LMU?

HIGHLY QUALIFIED INSTRUCTORS:

The CSON employs a distinguished faculty that are professional educators as well as practitioners in the field of nursing. All nursing professors hold a minimum of a Master of Science in Nursing, with many faculty also holding doctoral degrees, from various institutions of higher education. LMU's nursing faculty includes individuals with specialties/concentrations in the following areas: adult health, pediatrics, mental health, women's health, administration, education and community health nursing.

SUCCESSFUL GRADUATES:

LMU nursing graduates are working in all areas of nursing, including specialized areas such as neonatal intensive care, mental health nursing, school health nursing, and trauma nursing. They work all over the country in a variety of settings--from major medical centers to small community hospitals.

Many of our graduates have also gone on to graduate school at places and obtained their master's degree in nursing. With a master's degree, you'll be prepared for a host of specialized positions.

ORGANIZATIONAL AND COMMUNITY INVOLVEMENT:

LMU's Student Nurses' Association enables you to get involved in the community and develop yourself professionally. LMU students have served as president of the National Student Nurses' Association (NSNA) and as editor of the NSNA's official publication.
